Rules and Regulations

Running 100 meter

- Every 100-meter sprinter must begin the race with his feet in the starting blocks. The official race starter will call the sprinters to their blocks and on command the runners will adopt a set position.
- The set position requires the runners to have both feet in the blocks and adopt a position with the body weight on their hands.
- On the starter's gun all runners begin the race.
- The athletes cannot touch the starting line or the other side of the starting side line before the pistol fires.
- A false start is called when the feet of a runner leave the starting blocks before the starter's gun.
- Once the sprinters start to run, they need to make sure that they do not step on the white lines that mark the lanes throughout the race.
- Sprinters should run in their designated lanes and cannot cross the lanes throughout the race.
- Athletes cannot obstruct each other's path or else they will get disqualified.
- Athletes should not leave the track but if they do so they cannot come back on the track. This leads to disqualification.
